OAPs' group is set to fold

A PENSIONERS' group is to close because its chairman is stepping down at the age of 90 and no-one has come forward to take over.

Frank Bradsell has been chairman of the Haverhill and District Pensioners' Association for more than 20 years and despite being registered blind and turning 90 in June, he has continued to champion the cause of older people.

However, as membership numbers have dwindled, he feels unable to continue, despite being concerned about how future spending cuts will impact on senior citizens.

He said: "I can only assume that older people are either too apathetic, or content with their lot.

"When we started we used to get a good crowd of about 60 people, but obviously a lot have died and numbers have dwindled right down.

Second school in bid to be academy

A TOP performing Haverhill school has applied for academy status and could be fast-tracked through by the government.

Parents of pupils at Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College have received a letter telling them that its governing body is considering the school becoming an academy – which would mean it would no longer be under Suffolk County Council control, but operate independently with funding directly from central government.

The school is one of only

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

2,000 in Britain classed as “outstanding” by OFSTED inspectors, which means it is among the first in the country to be invited to apply to become an academy.

Head teacher Howard Lay wrote seeking parents' views on the planned change, which would come at a time when Samuel Ward, along with other schools in the area, has had to expand to accept additional pupils from next year when the schools reorganisation review is completed and all middle schools are closed.

Mr Lay wrote: “We believe we have the experience and expertise to use the additional autonomies of academy status to continue the development of the school and raise standards.

“It is very clear that the Government sees greater autonomy for schools as the next stage in the development of the education service and wants schools to be more proactive in developing their individual strengths in response to the needs of the local community.

“We see academy status as a key component in our future development and we intend to use this as a platform from which to ‘re-energise’ the whole school community and focus on the best way to raise standards for our pupils.

“Academy status is intended to promote innovation and educational entrepreneurship by giving school leaders more freedom to decide how best to meet the needs of their pupils, parents and wider community.”

Haverhill's other upper school, Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, has also applied for academy status, but funding for new buildings was axed when the government scrapped the Buildings for Schools programme.

Twins ready to put best foot forward for Big Toddle

TWINS Harry and Amy Cohen are getting ready to step out round their local park when they join in the Big Toddle event on Sunday, August 8. The event is being organised in association with the Haverhill Weekly News by our senior media consultant Louise Cohen and her two-year-old twins were among the first youngsters to sign up for it.

So far, 30 families are involved and several local companies have offered their support. The toddle is part of a national fund-raising campaign by Dr Barnardo's to help fund its work with disadvantaged children.

It takes place at the East Town Park in Coupsals Road, Haverhill, on Sunday, August 8, at 10.30am. Following the Toddle around the park, Kirsty Cummins, of Roly Boo's Yoga, will take a free session for all those wishing to participate and then families can stay for a picnic.

Goody bags have been organised for every child who does the walk, containing a free carton of drink donated by Tesco, something from the Mini

Ready for the off: Harry and Amy with their mum Louise Cohen who has organised the Big Toddle, supported by the Haverhill Weekly News.

Leaves range from Figleaves.com, fridge magnets from STP Stationery, Billy Blood Drop stick-on character from the Blood Donors

Association and Weekly News pens and giveaways. Each child will also receive a medal, sticker and certificate as a reward for completing the Toddle. The event is for pre-school children aged up to five years, and younger ones can be pushed in a buggy if they are not up to walking yet. Anyone who wants to register to take part should e-mail advertising@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk by August 1.

Pensioners' association set to close

“I have done all sorts of advertising, put out leaflets, but I cannot get anybody to come.

“I have been going to council meetings for years and putting across the problems of pensioners, but I feel like a cheat, because I am only representing the views of about a dozen people. I am just not getting anywhere.

“It is not my age, I am quite happy to attend council meetings, but I would just be speaking for myself. It is a great pity really, I feel with all these cuts, older people are going to have a very rough time.

“I am of the opinion that a lot of old people are locked away in their homes and don't come out. They don't go to libraries, they don't have a computer and they don't even buy a paper.

“We served our country in war and peace, but we have become a financial embarrassment, because there are so many of us and they don't know what to do with us.

“They have not got a clue what it is like actually being an old person. There are big issues out there, but no-body is tackling them.

“I am very disturbed about what is going to happen to older people in the future, but there is nothing I can do about it.”

Gordon Mussett, Haverhill town clerk, said Mr Bradsell had been attending council meetings for many years and had raised some pertinent points.

He said: “At a time when the number of older persons is increasing, it is a shame that the one group in town that campaigns for pensioners is folding.”

Bench tribute to tragic teen

A TRAGIC teenager who died just after his 18th birthday has been remembered with a memorial bench at a playing field where he once enjoyed kicking a ball around.

Andrew Armstrong died when he crashed his new motorbike into a post almost three years ago and his family are still struggling to come to terms with their loss.

Mum Paula Armstrong spoke about her heartbreak in May, to help launch a police campaign to warn youngsters about the dangers of riding bikes off road.

Mrs Armstrong met councillors and police representatives on Friday to officially unveil the bench, close to their home in Queensway, Haverhill.

It was paid for by Haverhill Town Council and installed by St Edmundsbury Borough Council. The town council is also to pay for fencing to be put up along the edge of the playing field, to reduce the danger of youngsters running out into the road to retrieve footballs that roll down the slope there.

Mrs Armstrong said: "I am very proud and Andrew would have been too. The whole family has been very touched by everything everyone has done, we live in a very close community."

"Andrew used to sit under this tree where the bench is with his friends and I can see it from my window. We are very grateful to everyone, especially Haverhill Town Council. Without them it would not have happened, because we just did not have the cash to do it."

Damien Parker, parks manager for St Edmundsbury, said: "Hopefully it can be used as an unusual way of reminding young people about the dangers of riding motor bikes off road."

Memorial: Paula Armstrong (holding flowers) at the unveiling of the bench dedicated to her son Andrew.

Getting steam up for annual show

GIANT steam engines will be arriving at a racecourse for an annual show.

The 31st Thurlow Steam and Country Show will take place on August 7 and 8 at Horseheath Racecourse, near Linton.

The event, once again being run with the support of the East Anglian Traction Engine Society, has raised thousands of pounds for local charities over the years. Refreshments will be available on site, as well as a beer tent, trade stands, and a craft tent.

Admission is £6 for adults, £5 for OAPs and £2 for children. A family ticket (for two adults and up to three children) is £16. Car parking is free and on site camping is £20 for the weekend.

Police plea over teenager flasher

A TEENAGER exposed himself to a woman as she walked across a housing estate last Wednesday afternoon.

The incident happened at Manor Road, Haverhill at around 3pm, on one of the slopes leading to Millfields Way. The woman walked away and minutes later the teenager was seen walking towards Girtton Road.

He is described as white, 5 ft 4 ins tall, of stocky build with short mousey hair and wearing blue shorts, a white T-shirt and white trainers. He carried a clear water bottle with a handle.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Kevin Rolt at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Hopes for new free school

TRUSTEES hoping to establish one of the first free schools in the country under new government legislation are confident that its doors will be ready to open by next September.

Around 300 people packed a public meeting at Clare Middle School to discuss the plan to establish the Stour Valley Community School there, after it closes as a middle school next July.

Keith Haisman, one of the trustees of Stour Valley Educational Trust and Clare Parish Council chairman, has already met Prime Minister David Cameron and Education Minister Michael Gove, who gave their backing to the plan to create a new school for up to 600 pupils aged 11 to 16 years.

Details of what curriculum will be offered, the head teacher and the ethos of the school must be decided, but Mr Haisman said it was hoped to have final approval for it to go ahead before the end of this year. The school will appear on parental choice forms issued by Suffolk County Council.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

He said: "We were invited to Downing Street as one of a half dozen schools at an advance stage with their applications and Helen Bennett, of the Department of Education, has been appointed to help guide us through the approval process."

"If we do get approval, I am sure the government will help make sure that we are successful. We hope to open with 300 to 350 pupils and we understand there will be funding to help us get established."

"We were very pleased to get 300 people at the meeting. There was no antagonism, some people did have concerns about issues like transport."

"We have been in touch with all six feeder schools and also some across the border in Essex. We have already had enquiries from parents in Haverhill and Newmarket, but whether they send their children here is another matter."

"We hope to have positive discussions with post sixteen providers like Samuel Ward in Haverhill, West Suffolk College and Linton Village College and work with them. This is not Clare against Sudbury or Haverhill, it is about giving parents a choice about where their children are educated. At present you have some children going from schools with 70 children to ones with more than 1,000. That works for some children, but not for all. Education policy has changed and what we are doing is in line with the new legislation."

Reward offered for return of memory stick

A MOTHER is offering a reward for the return of a USB memory stick which contains six years of pictures of her children.

Wendy Yagir last saw the Corsair memory stick, which is black with blue edging, on Monday, July 19, and thinks she could have dropped it somewhere on the Tuesday or Wednesday. She is on the PTA at Thurlow Primary School and her husband Ali runs Dial a Pizza in Haverhill, and many people would recognise them in the pictures.

She said: "I have managed to salvage a few pictures from Facebook, but it is the pictures which are really precious to me."

Anyone who had found the memory stick should call (01440) 706055 and speak to Ali Yagir.

Fun for all ages at town's Big Day Out

A FEAST of fun in the sun was enjoyed by youngsters attending a Big Day Out event.

Haverhill's Recreation Ground was crammed with youngsters clambering up a climbing wall, and taking part in numerous rides and activities, from tiny tots right up to teenagers.

They could also follow a healthy eating trail to win goody bags and enter a prize draw for a £50 Tesco voucher.

There were plenty of free activities and workshops, as well as advice and information stands.

The annual event is organised by Haverhill Town Council, St Edmundsbury Borough Council, Suffolk County Council, Haverhill Volunteer Centre and Haverhill Extended Schools, with financial assistance from Tesco.

Conman foiled by elderly woman

AN ELDERLY woman foiled an attempt by a bogus water official to get into her home.

The man called at the woman's house in Crowland Road, Haverhill, at around 10.45am last Thursday, saying he was working at a neighbouring property and needed access to her home to turn down the water pressure. She refused him entry and he walked off, joining a second male in the street. The incident follows renewed police warnings about distraction burglaries.

The first man is described as white, between 19 and 25 years old, between 5 ft 3in and 5 ft 6 in tall, of medium build with short light brown hair and stubble and wearing a light grey sweatshirt with a picture on the front. The second man is described as slightly taller and slimmer than the first and wearing a navy sweatshirt. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to ADS Lisa Hunt at West Suffolk CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Wheelchair amnesty

A DAY care centre manager has made a plea for the return of badly-needed wheelchairs and walking frames.

The Day Centre in Camps Road, will be accepting the return of unwanted items from next Monday to Friday between 10am and 4pm, with no questions asked.

If you are unable to return the items yourself, telephone Lyn Burgess, community transport service manager on (01440) 712028 and collection will be arranged.

Rain stops Tempest

TORRENTIAL rain forced the cancellation of an outdoor performance of Shakespeare's The Tempest but it will now take place tomorrow.

Outspoken Theatre Company was due to perform in Haverhill's East Town Park, but the heavy rain made ground conditions unsafe for performers and the audience, so the show had to be cancelled. The event will now take place at 7.30pm. For tickets or information, call (01440) 714140.

Garage door dented

TWO men carrying sledgehammers were seen in the area at the time when a garage door was dented in the early hours of the morning.

The damage was caused to a garage at Cambridge Close, Haverhill, between 1.50am and 2.05am on Monday. A group of four men were seen in the area at the time, two of them carrying sledgehammers.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc James Narayan at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Teenagers accosted

TWO groups of teenagers were accosted by three men who spoke to some of them inappropriately.

At Leiston Road, Haverhill, between 2pm and 2.30pm on Friday, three men first spoke to two 15-year-old girls sitting on a wall, who walked off. The men then approached two teenage boys and spoke inappropriately to them about girls.

The first man is described as white, 6ft 3in tall, in his late 20s, bald with a thin face and wearing a zipped hooded top, black tracksuit bottoms and white trainers. He was carrying a bottle of beer and smoking.

The second man is described as white, with a tanned complexion, of slim build, short with brown hair and thin sideburns and wearing a yellow T-shirt, cropped trousers and white boots. The third man was short, of large build with a round face, bald and wearing a navy zipped jacket with red stripes on the arms and dark coloured nylon jogging bottoms. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Penny Ogden at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100.

Anniversary party raises research cash

A COUPLE who decided to throw a party in aid of a cancer charity instead of receiving presents for their ruby wedding anniversary have handed over a bumper cheque for more than £1,000.

Barry and Bridget Bishop, who are both 61, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on June 6 and decided they would like to use the occasion to do some good for others.

Barry was diagnosed with cancer three years ago, but has now recovered after an operation, chemotherapy and radiotherapy at Addenbrooke's Hospital. The couple decided to help Cancer Research UK and were thrilled to be able to hand over a cheque for £1,121.

The couple, who live at Parkside, Haverhill, organised a party for 200 people at the Vion

Social Club, with help from Bridget's brother John Smith and his wife Marion. They collected donations, as well as organising a huge raffle, with prizes donated by many local companies including Morleys, Thingmobs, STP, IFF, David Holland and Vion.

Bridget said: "We thought if we could raise £500 that would be great, but we managed to more than double it, which is fantastic. People were very generous, because they knew what Barry had gone through over the past three years. He had wonderful treatment and we just thought it was payback time, so that somebody else can get the help."

Louise Cook, area volunteer manager for Cancer Research UK, said the cash would go to the Cambridge Research Institute, based at Addenbrooke's Hospital.

Man jailed for underage sex

A JUDGE has told a man who admitted sexual activity with two 15-year-olds that he poses a threat to young girls – and locked him up for four years.

Adam Champion, 25, appeared for sentence at Ipswich Crown Court yesterday for two offences of sexual activity with a child, which he admitted at an earlier hearing, and had involved separate girls on two different dates at his home address.

Judge John Holt told Champion, of Argyle Court, Haverhill: "You are a significant risk of harm to girls under 16."

Judge Holt said he was satisfied that the second girl had been under the influence of cannabis when she had sex with Champion. The girl's mother had said in a statement: "She was incoherent and her pupils were the size of saucers."

Champion was told that when he is released from prison he will be subjected to an extended four year period on licence and a sexual offences prevention order, which forbids him to be alone with girls aged under 16.

Lindsay Cox, prosecuting, said that last June Champion had been in his bedroom at home playing X Box games with a group, among whom was a 15-year-old girl. When everyone but the girl had left, Champion pinned her to the bed, indecently touching her "with some force". The girl told Champion to stop and bit him on his right leg before breaking free and running from the house.

Champion told officers he knew the girl's age. He admitted spending most of his time smoking cannabis and playing computer games.

Mr Cox said: "This incident has had a marked effect on her schooling, her ability to sleep. It has caused her general anxiety."

The second incident – while Champion was on bail for the first offence – took place in February this year, when another 15-year-old girl had been at his home with a group of friends. When they left Champion had kissed the girl before having sex with her.

Champion claimed that what took place had been with the girl's full consent although he knew her age.

A psychiatric report said Champion was suffering from a personality disorder which meant he lived a chaotic and disordered life and on occasions his choice of sexual partners had been poorly thought through.

Use town – don't abuse it

Sir, I would like to comment on the article High Street 'fails to deliver goods'.

What a load of rubbish. The people who make these comments do not realise what impact they have on the many local independent businesses that are already in town.

I would like to say where you can buy these products:

1. DVDs: T.V.L. Camps Road, Tesco's, Sainsbury's.
 2. Men's clothes: Morley's, Burton's, Peacock's, Tesco's and Sainsbury's.
 3. Sports equipment: Argos, Tesco's.
- Sorry if I have left any other people out of these answers, but I am so angry over what has been said and so are a lot of other people that I have spoken to about this who actually do shop in town.

The people who make these comments freely admit they do not shop in the town.

As a business person, I would have thought this person would support our local community.

These people seem to forget one thing, for the big boys to come to town they need to know it is going to be profitable. This is never going to happen if people stop shopping in town and they need to remember we have had some big shops here Woolworths, Dixons, Curry's and even men's shops – all gone because people didn't use them enough.

So to those people who moan about Haverhill High Street and carry on shopping out of town for the stuff they can so easily get in Haverhill, you will never get a Marks and Spencer's or a Debenhams because it's not worth their while to come here. Please stop bringing down Haverhill. Look at what we do have and use it, not abuse it.

Triple green flag success for borough parks

A COUNCIL is celebrating getting three green flags for its parks – the largest number in the county.

The triple success comes for St Edmundsbury Borough Council as the Abbey Gardens wins accreditation, and East Town Park in Haverhill and Nowton Park in Bury St Edmunds successfully retain the awards granted in previous years.

Together the three parks welcome more than 850,000 visitors a year and across the borough, there are more than three million visits to the green spaces managed by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Cllr Lynsey Alexander, St Edmundsbury Borough Council cabinet member for culture and sport, said: "We treasure our parks and I am delighted they have been confirmed as being of such a high standard.

"As they are free, they are particularly valuable in these difficult economic times, and I recommend anyone who has yet to discover the parks, to pay a visit, and be delighted with what they find."

The Green Flag Award is the national standard that recognises and rewards the best parks and green spaces in England, Wales and Scotland.

Only green spaces that are free and open to the public are eligible. The award is a sign that a park has met strict criteria, which among other things require it to be a clean, safe and welcoming place to spend time.

Déjà Vu for businessman helping his old club

A COFFEE shop owner and football fan has given a cash boost to success youth teams.

Déjà Vu coffee shop in Queen Street is backing Haverhill Rovers Football Club youth teams in a record breaking sponsorship deal for the club.

Harry Zachariou, who used to play left midfield for Haverhill Rovers FC in his teens, presented the junior team with a cheque for £2,000.

Harry, who also runs Bar Vu in Jubilee Walk, said: "I played for Haverhill Rovers from the age of 19 until I was 21 and I am so pleased to be helping the junior team with their next two seasons.

"Youngsters in Haverhill should be encouraged to continue sports that they enjoy as I did in my teens.

"It helps not only with their fitness but with confidence, team building skills and it's a great way to meet friends and fill your time with a constructive activity that has discipline. I'm also pleased to give something back to the community, as a lot of these children and their parents use Déjà Vu at lunchtimes and weekends."

Brad Rice, former chairman of Haverhill Rovers Youth FC and now chairman of the fundraising committee, said: "We are extremely grateful to Harry and Déjà Vu for sponsoring the youth teams for three seasons. It must be a record-breaking deal for the local area and we are very pleased to work with Déjà Vu for the foreseeable future.

"The sponsorship will give an enormous boost to the youngsters and the money will go towards various causes, most notably purchasing sports kit and helping to reduce the financial barriers some families face so that no children in the local community miss out on playing football.

"It is with the support of businesses and organisations in Haverhill such as Déjà Vu that we are able to continue to run the youth teams and provide a thriving football club."

No care home for redundant middle school

HOPES that a brand new care home for the elderly could be provided on disused school site have been dashed after councillors agreed to abandon the scheme.

A number of schools in Suffolk will become redundant once middle schools close and the county moves to a two-tier education system next autumn.

Suffolk County Council had announced plans that several of these sites – including Chalkstone Middle School in Haverhill – should be used for new care homes.

The new home at Haverhill would have replaced the Place Court home in Camps Road, with the site sold off to help pay for it.

Consultation had already started on the plan, which had received support from various groups in Haverhill.

However, members of the council's cabinet have now agreed not to go ahead with the plan to use a Private Finance Initiative (PFI) to help fund the scheme, as it was not considered affordable in the current financial climate.

A further report back to councillors will be made in October, reviewing how its entire estate of 17 homes should be dealt with in future.

A report to the cabinet reads: "It is now clear from the financial analysis that the cost to the council for redeveloping only part of its care homes is unaffordable.

"However, the interest people have shown about the proposals during the consultation is valued and acknowledged."

A financial assessment of the scheme showed that, although PFI would have brought funding from central government to support the proposal over a 25-year period, the project would have cost the council an additional £3m in the first five years.

It was these additional costs which made it unaffordable to the council.

It was also considered that other options for the care of elderly people, apart from residential care,

Hotel plays key tourist information role

A HOTEL has become the Tourist Information Point for its local town.

Days Inn at Phoenix Road, Haverhill, has won the backing of East of England Tourism and Sharon Fairweather, the tourist officer for St Edmundsbury Council.

The hotel will have information on local attractions, local events, travel timetables, sale of local maps and its aim will be to promote Haverhill.

Donna Revell, General Manager said: "We are pleased to be able to offer this additional service to the hotel guests and to the visitors of Haverhill and the surrounding villages."

The 80-room Days Inn is located in the Haverhill Business Park, at the junction of the A1017 southern by-pass and Bumpstead Road.

Enterprise project helping new firms

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

ZUMBA classes and a flower shop are just two of the 15 new businesses set up in Haverhill with help from an enterprise group – and it plans to more than double the figure.

Free courses on financial issues and one to one business advice sessions have been provided by MENTA, (Mid Anglian Enterprise Agency Limited), to help people examine the pros and cons of going into business.

Since the 'So You Want to Be Your Own Boss' project was launched in the town, it has helped many people realise their dreams.

Project manager Rosanne Kilbourn said: "We have been delighted with the interest we have had from people in Haverhill area wanting to set up their own business. Our target is to help 40 new businesses set up by May next year and we already almost halfway there.

"However, the project is not just about the number of new businesses created. It is about giving people who are economically inactive such as the unemployed, those made redundant or parents thinking of returning to work, the self confidence and skills to look at self employment as a serious option."

Flower Power, run by Sally Hiskett, 31, of Withersfield Road, is just one of the new businesses. Sally left her job because of ill health and has set up a business as florist, specialising in events.

She said: "MENTA has provided me with absolutely fantastic support and I would not have got as far as I have without them. I really enjoy being my own boss."

"I would tell anyone considering becoming their own boss to go for it, especially if you have children or suffer from ill health."

Hannah Oakley 21, a single parent from Haverhill, searched for ways to keep fit and lose weight after the birth of her daughter Elsie-Rose. She used Zumba Latin-inspired dance classes to shed three stones. She gained her fitness instructor qualification in January 2010 and by February had set up her own business called Wings of a Dove, teaching in venues across Haverhill.

She said: "I enjoyed it so much and I was disappointed there were no classes in this area. So I decided to train as an instructor and set up my own business."

"Chrissy Proctor from MENTA has been there for me since day one, providing advice on everything from how to get help with my finances to marketing. Running your own business can be stressful, but it is so rewarding."

"I feel so lucky that at 21 as a single mum I have my own business and my own home."

Vandals strike

THE power supply to a breast screening unit was damaged by vandals while it was parked outside a leisure centre. The damage was caused at Lordcroft Lane, Haverhill, between 3.30pm last Friday and 8am on Monday. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Sarah Bartley at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Stolen moped found

A PEUGEOT moped was stolen from a pedestrian area and was later found on nearby playing fields having been tampered with. The moped was taken from Woodcock Close, Haverhill, between 12.45am and 1.45am last Wednesday. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Mel Leaman at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

School gets good marks

OFSTED inspectors have found a middle school to be providing a good level of education, a welcoming environment, and to be outstanding in its promotion of healthy lifestyles.

Inspectors went to Chalkstone Middle School earlier this month to scrutinise lessons and to meet governors, teachers, support staff and pupils.

The lead inspector also attended the Crucial Crew roadshow at Samuel Ward Upper School with the Year 6 pupils where he found the pupils' behaviour to be 'exem-play', and where he met Howard Lay, headteacher of Samuel Ward.

Opinions of parents were collected through questionnaires.

In their report, the inspectors stated that "good improvements have been made in attainment, teaching and learning, target setting, attendance and behaviour" since the last inspection in 2007.

The inspectors described most of the lessons they saw as featuring learning that was good or outstanding.

The report said: "Pupils make good progress and achieve well, because the quality of their learning in lessons is good. Pupils say they enjoy being at school, and this was clear from the lessons seen during the inspection."

The inspectors described the curriculum as "meeting all requirements" and "suitably enriched to offer the pupils even greater opportunities."

Governors were described as "keen to act as critical friends".

Although the school will close next summer, the inspectors concluded that "staff at all levels are determined to minimise the uncertainty being caused because of the imminent reorganisation of education in this part of Suffolk."

"The school's record of sustained improvement illustrates well the ambition and drive of the good management team."

Nigel Giles, the headteacher, said: "I am very pleased that this report describes very accurately the good, happy school that Chalkstone is."

"We are fortunate to have such a talented and skilled staff, such enthusiastic children, and supportive governors."

Club to start up classes

A FLOWER club is taking names for evening classes starting in September.

Haverhill Flower Club will hold classes at the Leiston Community Centre, starting on September 8 at 7.30pm.

The classes will run for 12 weeks with a half term break.

UPDATE

Views sought on Hanchett End Business Park Concept Statement

For the past month, St Edmundsbury Borough Council (SEBC) has been seeking local views on the future of a key Haverhill site. The land at Hanchett End, located next to the Spirit of Enterprise roundabout, has been identified for employment use for a number of years and importantly, SEBC is seeking the views of the public by tomorrow, Friday 30th July.

Since our initial update on the draft Concept Statement, Carisbrooke Investments would like to take the opportunity to inform you of several important developments:

The PACEC report

This report, produced by independent consultancy, PACEC, into the viability of the Haverhill Research Park follows a previous study commissioned by the Suffolk Development Agency in 2006. The key conclusions from this updated report were:

- That the benefits associated with the development of the site would only be realised with higher-value development being included.
- Working on an assumption that the total infrastructure cost would be £4m, the report concludes that the scheme would “still be showing a loss after 10 years”, based on an average take-up of 15,000 sq ft per annum.
- That the residual surplus land at the site, estimated to be 3.6 hectares or 9 acres, be developed for residential or some other higher value-added use, to allow the development to be moved forward positively.

Support from the local business and education community

Alongside the publication of the PACEC Report which supports the position adopted by Carisbrooke Investments, a number of leading business organisations and local educational institutions have also recognised the case that higher-value development is necessary for inclusion within the draft Concept Statement, ensuring future development is viable and aspirations for this important site can be realised.

“We therefore support the view that the Concept Statement should be changed to allow approximately one-third of the site to be developed for higher value non Research Park uses, in order to make development of the whole site viable.”

Haverhill Enterprise

“It will be very challenging to attract public sector finance in the current climate, so creative solutions will need to be found and possibly some flexibility exercised in order to realise this as part of the Vision for Haverhill.”

West Suffolk College

“In our view, in order to ensure the successful development of a gateway business park and/or research facility, which as a business representative group we are fully behind, we do consider that a defined level of supporting uses is vital to help promote delivery of the development. To this end, we feel that there should be explicit reference to higher value uses as part of the main Concept Statement.”

Haverhill Chamber of Commerce

More information about the site and Carisbrooke's views can be found at:
www.haverhillresearchpark.com or you can call 0800 298 7040

Carisbrooke's covenant to the community – mutual commitment

Subject to receiving the inclusion of one third higher values uses within the draft Concept Statement, Carisbrooke would commit by way of legal agreement to losing the right and ability to develop any storage, distribution or other warehouse type development. Carisbrooke would then commit via further legal agreement to the remaining two thirds of the development being delivered only in the form of office, R & D, light industrial and supporting uses.

Furthermore, the entire infrastructure and environment would be delivered at the same time as any agreements reached over the occupancy of the higher value uses, ensuring that the research park is finalised at the earliest opportunity for all prospective occupiers and the community to see.

DEADLINE

There is just one remaining day to lodge your comments with the council.

Should you wish for your views to be recognised, please ensure that the council receives them by:

Friday 30 July 2010

How to lodge your comments

Should you be interested in contributing to the way in which this important site is finally developed in the future, you can lodge your comments on the council's Draft Concept Statement with the council by:

- Completing a response form available from the council's own website under the masterplans and policies page. This form can either be completed and submitted electronically or via the post
- By emailing – LDF@stedsbc.gov.uk
- By telephoning the council's Planning Policy team on 01284 757352

Addenbrooke's car park fees stay despite protests

BY JOHN ELLUL

Email: weeklies@cambridge-news.co.uk

VISITORS to Addenbrooke's Hospital must continue paying hated parking charges after the coalition Government scrapped plans to abolish hospital car park fees.

The decision announced this week by the Department of Health backtracks on plans outlined by Labour last year to do away with the payments, which rake in millions for NHS trusts across the country.

Now campaigners want to see the Hills Road site follow the example of Trafford General Hospital in Manchester, which recently became the first in England to stop charging patients and visitors – Scotland and Wales have already stopped charging.

A health department spokesman said: "We can't be in favour of decentralisation and greater autonomy for the NHS and then tell them how to run their car parking."

Addenbrooke's has come under renewed criticism after figures disclosed under the Freedom of Pay point: people using the car park at Addenbrooke's Hospital will still have to pay.

Information Act revealed Cambridge University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust topped the list of trusts making more than £1 million from car parks during 2007/08.

The trust, which runs Addenbrooke's and the Rosie Maternity Hospital, collected £2.8 million from patients, visitors and staff during the period.

Hopes of a change were raised last September when then-Health Secretary Andy Burnham announced plans to scrap charges for in-patients.

Cllr Geoff Heathcock, Liberal

Democrat health spokesman for Cambridgeshire, blasted the "bitterly unfair" charges imposed on patients.

He said: "It's basically immoral to be charging people who are sick, and it also means 20 streets near the hospital are a constant car park."

"I'm bitterly disappointed that the new Government hasn't seen fit to change things."

"This isn't a private hospital, and when Scotland and Wales changed last year the thinking was that England would follow."

He added: "This is bitterly unfair, and the battle goes on."

A spokeswoman for Cambridge University Hospitals said: "Our car parks are self-funding, receive no money from taxpayers and do not make a profit."

"If we were forced to scrap charges then the income needed to operate them would have to be diverted from patient care."

"People visiting long-stay inpatients at Addenbrooke's and the Rosie already benefit from heavily subsidised, frequent parking arrangements that reduce the cost to less than £1.80 a day."

Successful firm weighs in 250 years of trading

KINGS, queens and prime ministers have come and gone but a successful weighing machine company is still trading after 250 years.

More than 100 guests attended a celebratory lunch at the White Hart, at Great Yeldham, to join the Herbert Group in celebrating the incredible achievement of trading for 250 years.

The company – formed in 1760 before the creation of the USA and which has witnessed 41 different Prime Ministers since it started trading in London – has been based in Haverhill since 1968.

The British-owned company is a manufacturer and distributor of innovative technological products to the retail, healthcare and commercial sectors.

The group counts Tesco, Marks and Spencer and Sainsbury among its long standing list of blue-chip customers and also supplies expert project management and technical support to a diverse range of businesses across the UK.

Sir Eldon Griffiths, Haverhill's former MP and a great friend of former company chairman the late Jim Herbert, was guest speaker at the lunch, along with representatives from Japanese partner company Teraoka Seiko Ltd.

Richard Herbert, chairman of the Herbert Group, received a surprise presentation from Christopher Gurteen, whose family textile company will celebrate its 250th anniversary in another 14 years.

Along with fellow members of the Haverhill Enterprise business pressure group, he presented Mr Herbert with an engraved glass bowl in recognition of his work on behalf of the town.

Learning centre boss is moving on FRIENDS, colleagues and clients gathered round to bid farewell to a woman who has worked tirelessly to help others get back into the workplace.

Barbara Adshead is leaving her job running the West Suffolk College Haverhill Learning Centre in the High Street at the end of the month after almost eight years in the role.

Many of those who Barbara has worked with over the years wanted to publicly pay tribute to her work.

Sarah Howard, chair of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, said: "Barbara is a very proactive member of the community, always cheerful and helpful and doing her best for Haverhill."

Dominic Greenwood, general manager at Haverhill Leisure Centre, said: "It has been a pleasure to work with Barbara over the past 18 months in setting up the new leisure centre in Haverhill. Barbara provides many opportunities for people to enjoy social, leisure and educational opportunities and at the leisure centre we have tried to accommodate as many as possible.

"Her departure will leave a real hole in this field, not only from an organisational perspective, but also because her passion and dedication to this cause will be really missed and a hard act to follow."

County councillor Anne Gower said: "As portfolio holder for Haverhill I am grateful for the support and enthusiasm Barbara has brought to the LEAP centre. I will miss her on a professional and on a personal basis and wish her well for the future. I consider her a great loss to the town."

Elaine Carr, owner of the Best of Haverhill franchise, said: "I think it is a real shame that Barbara is going, very sad. Barbara has been a part of the Haverhill business community for many years. She is a lovely lady who has done a great job for Haverhill. I wish her every success in the future."

Rosanne Kilbourn, of MENTA, said: "Barbara has been an enthusiastic and knowledgeable advocate for the people in Haverhill for a number of years. She has a passion for supporting and nurturing people to attain new skills and follow their dreams."

"I have had the great pleasure of working with Barbara on numerous occasions and am often wowed by her energy and enthusiasm, and her willingness to listen, learn, seek out and pursue new ideas for the community in Haverhill."

Car taken overnight

A BLUE Vauxhall Astra car was stolen from outside a garage overnight. The car, registration G188VHJ, was taken from Duddery Hill, Haverhill, between 4.30pm last Tuesday and 5.30pm last Wednesday. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to the Crime Investigation Bureau (CIB) on (01473) 613500 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Xbox stolen from house

A LARGE amount of electrical and computer equipment was taken in a daytime burglary. It is not known how thieves got into the house at Wellum Close, Haverhill, between 10.30am and 5.30pm last Wednesday. They stole an Xbox, a laptop, two mobile phones, a digital camera, an iPod and a necklace. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to DC Mel Stammers at West Suffolk CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Judge gives drunken man chance to seek treatment

A MAN who threatened his former partner outside the gates of a school has escaped jail so that he can tackle his drinking problem.

Laurence Marsh, 38, admitted a charge of using threatening behaviour when he appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates Court and was given a conditional discharge for a year.

Nicky Miller, prosecuting, said the woman had her children, aged six and two, with her when she saw Marsh, who was drunk and staggering towards her.

He slapped her on the back and made threats to her, making her feel intimidated.

Marsh, of Camps Road, Haverhill, had a list of 10 previous similar incidents and five convictions for breaching community orders which courts had made.

District judge David Cooper encouraged Marsh to sort himself out and take advantage of a rehabilitation treatment programme.

He imposed the conditional discharge on condition that Marsh does not contact his former partner.

Shepreth Wildlife Park

Unforgettable Shepreth

THERE are many weird and wonderful animals waiting to meet you at Shepreth Wildlife Park this summer.

With events running every half an hour throughout the day, you are sure to have an unforgettable family animal adventure.

Let the keepers captivate you with their extensive knowledge, feed the ducks and sheep or even stroke a skunk in the inspirational Discovery Centre. And if that wasn't enough to keep the little ones entertained, your children can let off steam in the outdoor play area with its galleon ship, slides, zip line and trampolines or even venture to Ringo's Playbarn, an indoor soft play centre.

Some recent additions to the animal collection include: Ruby the Maned Wolf who is busy settling into her new home. Ashanti the cusimansi, and an entire family of marmosets in the South American themed Tropical House.

Moonshadow, the proud polecat mother and her 10 hungry kits settle in the native species woodland, while keepers eagerly await mother number two, Artemis, to bring hers out on show for all to see. The two breeding pairs of polecat are part of a national breeding programme to re-establish polecats in the wild.

Dates for your diary this summer:

- August: Hedgehog Awareness month.
- August 4: Tiger Day.
- September 8: Tiger Swimathon.

For full details of events taking place over the summer period or to find out about supporting one of the conservation programmes, check the website for details www.sheprethwildlifepark.co.uk.

Chef's invite to taste the tapas

A TASTE of Spanish cuisine is on offer to customers at a new tapas restaurant.

Bar Vu in Jubilee Walk, Haverhill, which has already brought the town its first cocktail bar is now adding tapas – plates of Spanish finger food such as prawns, chicken, olives and much more – to its repertoire.

Chef Ben Allen has prepared some tasty treats for the menu including homemade lamb koftas with tzatziki yoghurt, Cajun chicken skewers, langoustines on skewers served with homemade chilli sauce and soft vine leaves served with flavoured mince or rice, to name a few.

Ben, who lives in Birdbrook, started his career as a chef at the Red Lion in Sturmer and was also head chef at the Red Lion in Horseheath. He has also worked as a chef at the two rosette restaurant of the Salthouse Harbour Hotel in Ipswich and had his own gastro pub called The Chequers in Kent.

He said: "I took the inspiration for the new tapas menu from the cocktail bar and prepared dishes that I feel will complement the drinks we serve upstairs. Tapas is very light for people who do not want a big meal when they are out on the town and it is perfect with cocktails." The restaurant, which will open Wednesday to Sunday from 6pm to 10pm, started taking bookings for the opening night before it was announced.

Owner Harry Zachariou, who also owns Deja Vu coffee shop in Queen Street, believes it is just the new type of eating establishment that Haverhill needs.

He said: "Tapas is a very social way of eating. Rather than having one big meal you can have as many or as little smaller dishes and combine them for a healthy supper.

"Tapas fits in very well with the cocktails and wines which we offer at Bar Vu and Haverhill needs a bit more variety in terms of eating out."

Police link spate of vehicle damage

A SPATE of damage to vehicles has been reported to police. Three incidents in the early hours of Monday are being linked by police.

The first was at Rowan Close, Haverhill between 1am and 2am, when a white box van was broken into by forcing a door but nothing was stolen. At Ash Grove, Haverhill between midnight and 3am, a black Yamaha motorbike was stolen from a driveway and later found in Layer Road.

Calls in relation to these incidents should be made to PC Kevin Rolt at Haverhill Police on 01284 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

At Vetch Walk, Haverhill between 1am and 2am, a man got into a white Renault Clio by unknown means and damaged it inside, but nothing was stolen. The man is described as white, in his early 20s, between 5 ft 8in and 5 ft 10 in tall and wearing black tracksuit bottoms and a grey hooded top.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to PC Richard Baker at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Thieves break into boxing club

THIEVES broke into a sports club by forcing a door and stole a punch bag, boxing gloves and head protectors.

The burglary happened at the Haverhill Boxing Club premises in Norton Road between 9am on Friday, July 9 and 6pm on Friday, July 23. Some items were found discarded nearby.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to PC Kevin Rolt at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100.

Make a date for police meetings

POLICE Street Meets have been organised by a Safer Neighbourhood Team.

They will take place on averhill Saturday at Sainsbury's, Haycocks Road, Haverhill, from 10am to 11am and on Thursday, August 5, at Tesco, Cangle Road, from 6pm-7pm.

Further meets will be held at Tesco on Saturday, August 7, from 11am-noon and on Tuesday, August 10, at Aldi, Lordscroft Lane, from 10am-noon.

Ahoy there for cut price coffees!

CUSTOMERS who turn up at a coffee shop dressed as pirates on Saturday will get half-priced coffee as staff pull out off the stops for a charity fun day. Costa Coffee in High Street, Haverhill, will have a Wii console set up in the store, and staff will don pirate gear to hand out balloons to the children and sell raffle tickets for prizes donated by other stores.

Classroom plan for Samuel Ward

FOUR new classrooms will be built at an expanding school if an application received by planners is approved.

The application for Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College in Chalkstone Way, Haverhill, was received by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

The school is expanding to take extra pupils once the town's middle schools close next year.

Summer full of entertainment

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editor@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

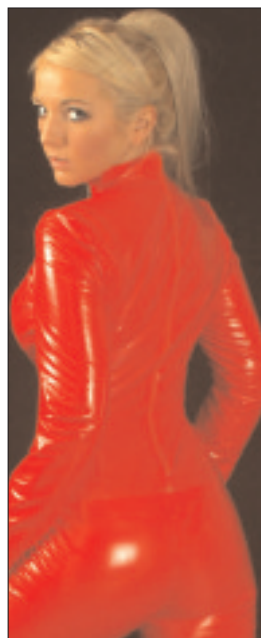

SONG, dance, theatre and a host of other fun things are on offer in a packed summer programme for all ages.

Haverhill Town Council has produced its latest Summer in Haverhill brochure which is jam-packed with all the fun things and activities to do in Haverhill in the summer holidays, many of them still free of charge.

August sees the return of popular free concerts in the Market Square, and starting on Saturday, August 7, at 7.30pm there is a high school theme with tributes to Glee, Hannah Montana, High School Music and Haverhill girl Lorna Bliss as Britney Spears, playing for the first time in her hometown.

On Saturday, August 28, from 8pm the tributes will focus on 20th century pop favourites with The Number 1 hits show with songs from the 50s, 60s and 70s, followed by 80s hits from Wham tribute Bad Boys.

The Bandstand on Recreation Ground will hold two more free musical events, with Hadstock Silver Band on Sunday, August 22, at 2.30pm and Freddie and Friends New Orleans Jazz Band on Sunday, Showtime: Lorna Bliss as Britney Spears.

CP

August 29, at 2.30pm.

Summer children's theatre at Haverhill Arts Centre starts with Sea Legs Puppet Theatre's adaptation of The Ugly Duckling on Friday, August 6, at 2pm and the People's Theatre Company return How the Koala Bear Learnt to Hug

& Other Stories on Wednesday, August 18, at 2pm.

Puppets, live music and comedy in Garlic Theatre's The Three Billy Goats Gruff is an ideal first theatrical experience for young children, on Wednesday, August 25, at 11am.

Young dance enthusiasts can join a workshop taking inspiration from the King of Pop, Michael Jackson Moves!, with a chance for ages 10-14, to learn some of his amazing dance routines and show off their newly acquired skills in a short performance.

This 3-day workshop takes place on Monday until Wednesday between 10am and 3pm.

Events for young people include the U Festival at the Burton Centre on Monday, August 23, from 2pm to 6pm.

This free event for people aged between 13-19 will provide demonstrations of activities such as free running plus DJing, VJing, food, 5 a side world cup, pamper zone, a street art workshop.

Youth Tube is an alcohol and drug free chance to party also for 13-19 year olds, listen to DJs and watch music videos. It is taking place at the Arts Centre on Friday, August 27, between 7.30pm and 10.30pm. Tickets are £3.

A cuddle gives deaf blind Delphi that vital loving touch

Family support: Delphi Hickman, 5, who suffers from microcephaly, with Zoe and Mark.

Picture: Duncan Lamont 663463

WHEN I arrive at Zoe Hickman's home soon after 9am, the mum of three has just returned from dropping her eldest son, 7-year-old Mackenzie, off at school.

Her 9-month-old baby Sonny is sound asleep in his pram, giving Zoe a few rare minutes to have a quick tidy around the house while her partner Mark is busy getting 5-year-old Delphi ready for school.

It's a typical morning in the Royston home, but the family is far from average.

Born with a complex condition called microcephaly, Delphi is deaf, blind, cannot walk, has to be fed through a tube and requires constant care from doting mum Zoe and Mark to stay alive. No one knows how long Delphi will live, but she is not expected to make it to adulthood.

Babies can be born with microcephaly or it can develop in the first few years of a child's life. It is a rare, neurological disorder where the brain doesn't grow at a normal rate, resulting in varying degrees of learning difficulties. Babies and infants with the condition have a reduced head size, but their face will continue to grow at a normal rate, resulting in an excess of skin. Other symptoms of the condition include a high-pitched cry, poor feeding, convulsions, hyperactivity and developmental delays, which can vary greatly in severity.

Five-year-old Delphi is deaf, blind, can't walk and needs constant care to stay alive. But, like any child, she still loves a cuddle from her family. Interview by LOUISE MARTIN

"When Delphi was born I knew there was something wrong with her as soon as I saw her," remembers Zoe. "Because she was my second, I knew what newborns looked like."

Despite her reservations, after the labour Zoe and Delphi were taken to the main maternity ward. "Her head circumference was very tiny," recalls Zoe. "They put a little hat on her and we waited for the doctor to come and check her, but the whole time I knew something was wrong. It was heartbreaking. I kept thinking, she can't see, she must be blind, because her eyes were closed and they were very puffy."

"What made it worse was that we were on a normal ward – I hate the word normal, absolutely hate it, but they were normal newborns, so everyone was looking and you can see that your baby's not the same as everyone else's."

Zoe says it was very frightening when the doctor arrived and immediately requested a brain scan for Delphi. At just a few hours old, she was diagnosed with microcephaly, but the doctors said they wouldn't be able to assess the severity of the condition until she was a few months old.

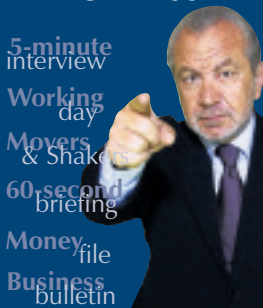

"We brought her home when she was two days old and at that stage, apart from having a misshapen head, she was feeding properly and there weren't really any major problems. It hadn't been said that she couldn't see, though I sensed it, but it wasn't until she was three weeks old that we realised she couldn't hear. The smoke alarm went off and she didn't flinch at all and I thought, that's not normal."

Following numerous tests, Delphi was diagnosed as being deafblind due to microcephaly. "The part of Delphi's brain that hasn't developed is the side that enables you to hear, see, and communicate – the development side. It is a very extreme case – some children can have a mild case of microcephaly and still lead normal lives."

Scooping up Sonny, who has now woken up, and bouncing him on her knee, Zoe tells me she never expected Delphi's condition to progress as quickly and aggressively as it has, and admits she doesn't think she fully understood how severe the condition could become.

"The thing with microcephaly is it's usually a very gradual learning problem," she says. "It's called severe developmental delay, which means they hit their milestones a bit later. But although I've been told this is what Delphi has got, Delphi has basically stopped – she isn't hitting any milestones, and she isn't going to hit any."

Responding to touch: Delphi Hickman held by mum Zoe and below with brothers Mackenzie, 7, and 9-month-old Sonny.

Despite being unable to communicate, Delphi has shown signs of being responsive to vibration and benefits from one-to-one support from her intervener, Gilly Moosajee, a relationship which was arranged through the deafblind charity Sense. Gilly visits Delphi once a week and, using a resonance board designed especially for deaf people, is able to make sounds vibrate around her body so she can experience the sensation.

In and out of hospital her whole life, during Zoe's pregnancy with Sonny, Delphi's health dramatically deteriorated. "She was suffering with seizures and, if they went too far, we had to call an ambulance for her," says Zoe.

Delphi developed bronchitis when she was a few months old and, since then, hasn't been able to take food or drink through her mouth. She is now fed through a jejunostomy tube, which is permanently inserted into her stomach.

"She's literally doubled in size, which has made her more difficult to handle," says Zoe. "She was Sonny's size for quite a few years and you could just pick her up and take her upstairs, but it's getting more difficult now."

Delphi's medication is also administered by tube – a gastrostomy, which is also permanently inserted into her stomach.

While I have been talking to Zoe, Mark has been with Delphi and has now brought her in to the lounge for the minibus that has arrived to take her to Greenside School in Stevenage, where she goes four afternoons a week. "It's a specialist school where she gets to do sensory activities and go in the hydrotherapy pool," explains Zoe, as she wheels her daughter out to the minibus.

Despite only being able to communicate by crying or smiling, Zoe and Mark both believe Delphi responds to the touch of people who know her well. "If she's crying and you pick her up and give her a tight cuddle it can soothe her," says Mark.

"I like to think she responds when you hold her hand, but we don't know," adds Zoe. "You don't see a reaction in her eyes." Neither Mackenzie or Sonny suffer from the condition, and Zoe has been given no explanation as to why Delphi developed microcephaly. She admits not knowing why her daughter has the condition, or how long she has to live, has been hard to come to terms with.

"The geneticist said it wasn't hereditary, it wasn't genetic – basically, with Delphi, it was a blip, I don't know why it happened. Although not knowing why is hard, I'm glad that I didn't find out she had microcephaly while I was pregnant, pregnant with Sonny, Delphi's seizures became more frequent and she also developed breathing problems. The couple were in and out of hospital with Delphi, and Zoe actually went into labour while Delphi was in hospital following a seizure.

The seizures continued and, when Sonny was 6 weeks old, Zoe and Mark were told by doctors that Delphi might not have much longer left to live.

Taking Mackenzie out of school so he could say goodbye to his sister, Delphi was transferred to Keech Hospice Care in Luton, a charity hospice, which provides end of life care for adults and children.

"She got quite bad one day and breaking the news to Mackenzie was the hardest thing," says Zoe.

But, against the odds, Delphi found the strength to pull through and, the following week, the family returned home.

"Delphi is still here," says Mark. "But we know that she could be gone... she will be gone, but we don't know when."

"People say 'how is she, is she any better?', but she's not going to get any better, she won't ever get any better, she'll only get worse. It's really tough."

For now the family "take each day as it comes" and finds the support from their friends and family, the team at Keech Hospice Care and Sense a great source of comfort.

Describing her daughter as being a 'real sweetie' and a 'tough cookie' from day one, Zoe admits she makes the most of the smiley days she has with Delphi. "I always try and take a picture when she smiles," she says. "I don't know what makes her carry on, to be honest."

"She obviously gets something out of us, so we'll just keep trying to find out what she responds to."

because obviously at that stage they wouldn't have been able to tell how severe it would be, and that decision... well, I can't imagine having to make that decision."

Deciding to have a third child was a big step for Zoe and Mark, but the couple tell me their situation was different then.

"When we were trying for Sonny I was working, Delphi was fine and then it just happened that I lost my job that February and Delphi went down hill," says Mark. "Someone actually said to me 'why did you have a third?', but everything was fine then."

Soon after Zoe discovered she was

Production in park setting just brilliant

THE East Town Park in Haverhill was transformed into Sherwood Forest and provided the perfect setting for a balmy summer evening of entertainment and laughter on Saturday.

The occasion was a visit by the Cambridge Touring Theatre, which once again delighted an audience with their talents in their rendition of Robin Hood and his Merry Men.

As the audience tucked into their picnics, the talented actors brought the famous tale to life through singing and acting.

There were lots of chances to interact with the cast as characters from the play often came right in amongst the audience to steal a strawberry or ridicule the "peasants".

Adults and children of all ages enjoyed the production and everyone felt involved as the audience was encouraged to join in with boos and hisses for the resident baddy; the Sheriff of Nottingham.

A truly brilliant production. I cannot wait for the Cambridge Touring Theatre Company to return again next year.

Louise Cohen

It's Madness: the cast of Our House show off their moves.

Joe and pals set college stage alight

I WAS never a big fan of Madness – too many grown men acting like kids.

That might not have filled me with confidence that Our House, the latest show at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, was one I would enjoy.

Fortunately my fears were unfounded, mainly because this cast was made up of real kids, really enjoying themselves. Songs I previously found annoyingly catchy, but trivial suddenly seemed bright and meaningful, with a plot cleverly weaved around the lyrics.

Much of the credit for my conversion to foot-tapping and actually humming along, even remembering the words of the songs, must go to Ben Bradley as central character Joe Casey.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

The struggle between his good guy/bad guy character was a difficult double act to pull off, but he managed it brilliantly, while still keeping a youthful charm and freshness in his songs.

Chiara Marchesi managed to get just the right balance between the teenage angst of her character and an excellent, powerful singing voice which did full justice to her solo ballads. Suitable parental support was provided by Joe Craig and Ivy Smith, both excellently cast in their roles and as Joe's parents.

Serious issues of crime, corruption and morality are constant undertones of the plot, but the show is far from doom and gloom. Some welcome comic relief is provided by two excellent double acts.

Annie Powell and Hannah Jones demonstrate excellent comic timing and Josh Oates and Jarid Robson are equally mismatched in size, but just as well suited as foils for each other.

Most of the cast of this show were probably not even born when Madness songs were in the charts. But they probably still knew the words to Baggy Trousers, Our House and It Must be Love even before they had to sing them. They will certainly remember them now and have given them a whole new lease of life for their audience.

The school is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year and the fact that it can still stage shows like this, bursting with youthful talent and enthusiasm, is quite a testament to pupils and teachers alike.

'I'm really pleased I got U in music A-level

JAMES MORRISON is an expressive interviewee. By the time we've finished chatting prior to his gig at Newmarket Nights, I've been sung to, had my leg pulled and heard an amusing impersonation of Prince Charles. All this from the soulful, sensitive-sounding singer-songwriter who looks like butter wouldn't melt...

Four years on since the success of his soaring ballad, You Give Me Something, the 25-year-old from Rugby has become an established name in the folk-pop industry, with his fragile, timeless voice one of the most distinctive around. He has picked up a BRIT award, seen two albums hit the Number One spot and collaborated with some of the hottest names in the music world.

Last year, his single Broken Strings, on which he worked with Nelly Furtado, continued his successful streak by becoming his best-selling single to date. And I get my first taste of the Morrison humour when I ask how the two singers got along.

"She hated me, she didn't like me at all," he says,

The Brit Award-winning soulful musician talks – and sings – to JENNIFER SHELTON about fatherhood, his school grades and the thrill of playing live.

seriously at first. "I was in her face all the time... No, she was really cool. I didn't really know what to expect to be honest, I've never worked with someone of that high a calibre. She was really down to earth and funny and sexy – everything you want Nelly Furtado to be, really."

Growing up on a healthy diet of Stevie Wonder, Van Morrison and Otis Redding, from an early age James was picking out tunes on his guitar. After years of busking in his home town – interspersed with a less-than-successful music course at school (more on that later) – James began playing at open mic nights, where he was discovered and swiftly signed by Polydor Records.

James will be belting out his hits on stage at Newmarket Racecourse this weekend and is looking forward to being part of the party.

"I love playing live, I'm just excited to be getting out there with my band," he says. "I think all musicians like playing live – it's great when the crowds are all singing your songs and they're with you 100 per cent and it's a beautiful day... all of that is amazing. But I think for me, it's those little special moments that come along when you play sometimes, where the hairs on your arms go up. That's the thing I enjoy."

James might have rubbed shoulders with royals and musical legends alike, but there are some who failed to predict this star's ascent. After studying for a music A-level at school, the young musician came away with just a U grade. What was that about, James?

"I know! What were they on about? Only joking – I dunno why I got a U really, I think it was because I wasn't very good at the theory side. I didn't enjoy it or get what it was about. I thought, why can't you just listen to it and then play it? I learned to play by ear. But I quite like it, I'm really pleased I got a U," he laughs. "It's just funny to me."

James is now the proud father of a little girl, Elsie – the first born to James and his long-term girlfriend Gill. Has she inspired any of his songs?

"Definitely," he says. "I wrote a song called The Awakening which was about me feeling like I've woken up for the first time after having a kid, thinking, 'now I know what's it's all about'."

"I try not to make it too obvious though, I think it's cringy if you do. I don't want to be like 'I LOVE MY DAUGHTER SO MUCH'," he sings, loudly, "I just try and do it in a subtle way, you know?"

"She really responds to music though," he adds. "She's a good little dancer. I've played her a few of my new songs just to see what she does, and if she dances to it, then she likes it."

With a young family and a great career doing what he loves most, James is full of pride – and astonishment – at how far he's come in just a few years.

"I couldn't have guessed that I'd be where I am today," he says. "I've always sung, and it's always been what I've wanted to do, but I thought it would take a lot longer."

Getting moving for feast of summer dance

THE first Summer Schools 2010 presented by DanceEast will be held at Haverhill Leisure Centre tonight and tomorrow from 10am to 3pm. Circus Moves! is a workshop for children aged 6 to 9 years and brings the circus to life through dance. Two fun-filled days led by a community dance artist will include creative dance sessions based on circus skills and themes, and there will be a chance to make costumes and props. There are three action-packed days for 10 to 14-year-olds, learning dance moves and routines to some of Michael Jackson's tracks. Michael Jackson Moves! is from Monday until Wednesday from 10am to 3pm. The children will use their ideas to create a short piece to share with family and friends. Workshop costs are £25 for Circus Moves! and £35 for Michael Jackson Moves!

■ There'll be Rats in the Kitchen at the arts centre but only on Saturday! UB40 fans get ready to hear the world's number one tribute to UB40 from 8pm to 1.30am. With DJs Paul Trinder and Skinnyboy Alex. Entry by ticket only, price £10.

■ Sea Legs Puppet Theatre present The Ugly Duckling on Friday, August 6, at 2pm, a puppet theatre for ages 3 plus. Tickets £4.50/family ticket £16.

■ Ridley Scott's version of Robin Hood (12A) starring Russell Crowe comes to the cinema tomorrow at 7.45pm and Thursday, August 5, at 2.30pm. Tickets £5/£4. On Thursday, August 5, at 10.30am, there is a showing of The Railway Children (U), digitally re-released for its 40th anniversary. Tickets £4. Finally Val Kilmer and Nicholas Cage star in The Bad Lieutenant: Port of Call - New Orleans (18) on Friday, August 6, at 7.45pm. Tickets £5/£4.

■ For more details about the shows, or to book tickets, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Get ready to rock with live and loud line-upTHE countdown is on to the Cambridge Rock Festival.

Over the years, it has become widely regarded as one of the friendliest and most welcoming festivals in the country and music-lovers return year after year to hear the finest acts around.

Local heroes leading the charge on the festival's opening night on Thursday, August 5, are the irrepressible Split Whiskers, who can always be relied upon to light the fuse. The fireworks continue to build, driven by The Pure Floyd Show, Led Zep Too, and the amazing All Star Band performing The 80s Rocked Show. Incorporating almost every classic rock hit of the 80s, it's impossible not to sing along with these crowd pleasers, brought to you by members of Tyketto, Magnum and Thunder.

The Classic Rock Society present their finely-tuned collection of the new breed of classic rock bands on Friday, August 6, calling on a variety of genres from folk oriented to the metal edged. The evening will then be brought to a triumphant climax by The Tygers of Pang Tang.

This year's crop of bands will appeal to fans of Whitesnake, as up until recently the Monsters of British Rock were known as Moody Murray Whitesnake. Freeway will be storming the stage on Saturday, August 7.

By way of contrast, Hazel

O'Connor will be also singing on the Cambridge Rock Festival's long weekend. She will be performing with The Subterraneans and Clare Hirst, who is well known for playing Live Aid with David Bowie. Together they will be reproducing the Breaking Glass set on this, the 30th anniversary of the album and film.

The Haggis Farm Polo Club will also play host to a number of excellent blues rock bands. The likes of Danny Bryant, Larry Miller, Chantel McGregor, Storm Warning or The Mustangs will offer you plenty of choice. And just to prove the girls can rock them out too, Deborah Bonham, JOANovARC, and Emerald Sky will be cranking up the volume.

In all, more than 70 bands will be taking the stage across festival.

Complementing the music will be the best choice of beers, ciders, perrys and spirits.

As well as offering the best in live music, the festival, which will be sited just off the M11 at junction 12, will also be supporting Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust, CambzLan, The Princes Trust in Association with Camridger and Help For Heroes.

■ Cambridge Rock Festival, Thursday, August 5, to Sunday, August 8. For tickets go to www.cambridgerockfestival.co.uk, or call 01353 749 749 or 0845 299 0845.

Rock star: Larry Miller will be among those playing next weekend's festival.

Top opera singer at the picnic

A TOP opera singer is to perform at a tiny village's picturesque cricket field in a picnic concert.

Internationally renowned singer, mezzo-soprano Yvonne Howard has agreed to lead an impressive line-up at the very first picnic concert to be at Mill Green, Shudy Camps, just three miles from Haverhill. The concert, 'A Great Night for Singing' will be held on Sunday at 6pm.

Yvonne Howard, who is from this area, made her debut with the Royal Opera Covent Garden as Mercedes in Carmen in 1991. Since then she has taken on a repertoire of roles including Suzuki in Madama Butterfly, Cornelia in Giulio Cesare and the Heavenly Voice in Parsifal. For English National Opera she has performed with Amastris Xerxes and Meg Page.

Yvonne is preparing a special programme of singing to celebrate the summer, including excerpts from Porgy and Bess, West Side Story and other items from Bizet, Cole Porter and Puccini. Other acts will include rock and acoustic themes, so there is something for everyone. Gates will open at 4pm for the picnics, with strawberry teas available as well as a beer tent. There will be ample parking and you can take chairs and tables.

The venue will be signposted from the A1307 from Haverhill. Tickets are £12 per person, with accompanied children free. Contact Richard Blackmore on 0776 6444051 or visit www.shudy-picnic.co.uk

The big film

THE REBOUND (15, 94 mins)

Comedy/Romance. Catherine-Zeta Jones, Justin Bartha, Joanna Gleason, Art Garfunkel, Kate Jennings Grant, Kelly Gould, Andrew Cherry, Sam Robards. Director: Bart Freundlich.

The Rebound has been sitting on a shelf for more than a year and, in truth, that's where it should have stayed.

Bearing striking similarities to the Uma Thurman film Prime, Bart Freundlich's predictable romantic comedy asks whether love can truly bridge the age divide or if the prejudices of friends and family will ultimately undermine the foundations of a relationship between a woman and a younger man.

If the writer-director has any interesting observations about modern day romance, he fails to weave them into a pedestrian script that gives all of the half-decent lines to the supporting characters.

These include two cherubic offspring, who are wise beyond their tender years and seem far more centred than their mother.

"We thought that you were dead," says the boy, startled when his parent wakes from her alcohol-induced stupor.

"We thought you had asphyxiated on your vomit," adds the girl sassily. The perfectly pickled parent is Sandy (Zeta-Jones), a 40-year-old yummy mummy whose world implodes when she discovers footage of her husband Frank (Robards) engaged in a sexual act with a neighbour. Sandy flings down her apron and muffin tins, abandons the suburbs and heads back to New York City with her daughter Sadie (Gould) and son Frank Jr (Cherry).

The mother lands a job at a TV sports network and needs to hurriedly arrange childcare. So she approaches 25-year-old graduate Aram Finkelstein (Bartha), who works in the coffee shop below her apartment.

Aram jumps at the opportunity to earn more money and gain more independence from his controlling Jewish mother, Roberta (Gleason), and long-suffering father, Harry (Garfunkel).

Friendship turns to attraction and eventually Sandy and Aram acknowledge their feelings and kindle a romance that raises eyebrows among her friends, especially acid-tongued Daphne (Grant).

Aram successfully allays fears by poking fun at the age difference but Sandy continues to fixate on those 15 years.

The Rebound has some amusing exchanges and Zeta-Jones and Bartha are an attractive central pairing but there's simply no screen chemistry between them. It's little wonder everyone counsels Sandy against the affair.

Convention blights every twist in the narrative and the set pieces feel hopelessly contrived, like when Sandy attends self-defence classes and lets out her pent-up rage at her husband in one foul-mouthed primal scream. Or a blind date that culminates in the would-be suitor relieving himself in a portable loo in the middle of the street then wrapping his unwashed hands around Sandy's stunned face.

Thankfully, reality bites for a downbeat ending but Freundlich simply can't resist a saccharine coda because a woman like Sandy apparently needs a man.

Clematis have cultivars for every garden setting

Among the glories of my garden are clematis – I love the big showy flowers of the hybrids as well as the early season types, such as C. macropetala, cascading over walls and fences or scrambling up shrubs.

In fact, there are clematis for virtually every setting, whether you want them to hide a structural eyesore, or provide colour and interest intertwined with evergreen shrubs. There are even clematis specifically bred for containers, which will add a flourish to your patio.

Combining clematis with other choice plants, such as roses, can create a focal point in the garden which will be colourful from spring to autumn.

Roses and clematis are particularly good plant partners as they have similar feeding and cultivation requirements. I have a

by Hannah Stephenson

gorgeous shrub rose, Rosa 'Gertrude Jekyll', which is heavily scented, bearing double, dark pink flowers in summer and autumn, growing up an obelisk, combined with C. 'Nelly Moser', an early to mid-summer flowering clematis with pink striped petals which fade in the sunlight. It makes a fantastic focal point and as the clematis starts to fade the rose comes into its own.

Early season clematis, such as C. alpina and C. macropetala, have bushy habits which are naturally suited to training up and hiding the bare stems of climbing or rambler roses.

Early to mid-summer flowering clematis, including C. 'Lasurstern' and C. 'Marie Boisselo', are better if thinned to five or six shoots before being tied into a rose because then the flowers will be larger and more evenly spread, making a better display.

Evergreen and deciduous shrubs can be perked up when planted with large-flowered hybrids, viticellas and compact species clematis, which flower from mid-summer to autumn. But bear in mind the flowering time of each plant and how they will complement each other.

Mid-season, large-flowered hybrids will happily grow through evergreen shrubs like rhododendrons, while early to late-summer blooming clematis with shorter stems and closer flowers, such as C. 'Fuji-musume' and the lilac coloured C. 'Josephine', are more suited to combine with smaller shrubs with compact crowns.

The dramatic, velvety deep red flowers of C. 'Niobe' will climb happily through the popular evergreen shrub Choisya ternata, while many hebe cultivars make a good foil for clematis.

Timing is important when growing clematis through trees or shrubs, if you want maximum colour impact. Plant C. montana var. rubens with Ceanothus arboreus 'Trewithen Blue' and both will flower at the same time, from late spring to early summer, the pink clematis making a striking show with the purple ceanothus. Directing the stems of the clematis through the ceanothus should maximise the overall effect.

Similarly, star-like pink blooms of C. alpina will pepper the crown of small, flowering apple trees, while climbers can also perform well as ground cover. C. 'Nelly Moser', for instance, will flower at the base of a tree trunk, brightening up a bare patch of ground. Combine another variety with it and you can create an interesting patchwork effect.

Colourful combination: grow clematis with roses for a long display of blooms

You can also buy more compact varieties of clematis which will engulf a wigwam or other support in a pot. I have one beautiful lilac-flowered compact Raymond Evison variety, C. Parisienne, which grows to around 1m (3ft) and produces a profusion of blooms in late spring and early summer, but there are many more from which to choose.

Plant compact clematis in a moisture-retentive but free-draining soil, where their roots are shaded but top growth is in the sun.

Check the variety for best location, as some will thrive in semi-shade while others prefer a fair amount of sunlight.

KNOWLEDGE QUIZ

Lost letters 24

In each of these puzzles a famous or popular quotation fills the grid. The individual letters remain in their correct column, but have fallen out and are out of order. Reinsert them in the correct order to find the answer. Any punctuation is given in its own square.

This quotation is by JM Barrie's Peter Pan.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.

Daihatsu is most reliable car maker

Poll delight for Far East manufacturers

JAPANESE car manufacturers swept the board in a major reliability survey published by Which? Car magazine this week, writes Peter Woodman.

Japanese companies took eight of the first 10 places in the magazine's manufacturer reliability table.

Daihatsu, with a score of 86.8 per cent, was top of the table, with Honda second, Toyota third and Mazda fourth. Land Rover was last on 67.5 per cent.

The survey, involving more than 64,000 Which? members and more than 66,000 cars up to eight years old, showed that, of sports cars, Porsche topped the customer satisfaction table.

Second was Daihatsu, with Lexus third. MG was at the bottom of the sports car satisfaction table, being rated as "poor" along with Vauxhall, Peugeot, Chrysler and Renault.

Topping the satisfaction table for an individual car model was the Honda Accord, followed by the Honda S200 and the Mazda MX-5.

The Honda Accord scored 97 per cent in this category in contrast to the cars at the bottom of the satisfaction table, with the Renault Laguna scoring only 51 per cent and the Renault Espace last of all with just 48 per cent.

The Kia Pacinto topped the table for new car reliability (nought to three years) in the supermini sector, with the Seat Ibiza bottom of the list. The Mazda 3 was considered the best medium car for new car reliability, with the Nissan Qashqai bottom.

In the large car sector, the most reliable was the Honda Insight, with the Ford Mondeo bottom of this particular table.

The most reliable luxury car was the Mercedes-Benz E-Class, with the Volkswagen Golf Plus the best in the multi-purpose vehicle sector; the Toyota RAV4 the most reliable 4x4 or sports utility vehicle; and the Mercedes-Benz SLK named the best sports car.

Daihatsu was considered the best company when it came to servicing cars, with Lexus second and Honda third. Bottom of this table was Fiat.

Despite the adverse publicity surrounding the recall of millions of Toyota cars worldwide in recent months, the company's luxury arm – Lexus – topped the best dealership table, with MG bottom.

Which? chief executive Peter Vicary-Smith said: "You don't expect a new car to go wrong – but our rigorous research shows there's a big difference between the best and worst."

"Some small cars, particularly Korean and Japanese superminis, run like clockwork. Whereas some bigger cars, which you might expect to be more robust, aren't all they are cracked up to be."

In its latest edition, Which? Car also included details of its best car manufacturer award – first announced earlier this year – which went to Skoda.

Vauxhall Meriva diesel options on sale

VAUXHALL has completed the new Meriva's diesel engine line up with the addition of two ultra-efficient units that together boost the range's green credentials and offer even more performance.

This brings the total number of engines in the Meriva range to seven, comprising three petrol and four diesel units.

The first new addition is a 93bhp 1.3 CDTi engine, which will power all Meriva ecoFLEX models. Featuring closed-loop combustion control, the 1.3 CDTi (93bhp) uses a variable geometry turbocharger and is mated to a gearbox with taller ratios. As a result, the Meriva ecoFLEX's emissions drop to 119g/km and it achieves fuel consumption on the combined cycle of 62.8mpg – a 9 per cent improvement over the 1.3 CDTi engine in the Meriva's previous range. The 1.3 CDTi ecoFLEX joins the 1.3 CDTi (74bhp), which was available from launch.

With up to 300Nm of torque available from 2,000-2,500rpm, the new 1.7 CDTi (127bhp) diesel takes just 9.9 seconds to accelerate from 0-62mph and will hit a top speed of 121mph.

On the combined cycle, the 1.7 CDTi (127bhp) still achieves 54.3mpg and CO2 emissions of just 138g/km.

Pricing for Meriva's diesel models starts at £16,875 for the Meriva S 1.3 CDTi (74bhp).

The Vauxhall Meriva: Diesel option from £16,875.

Vauxhall Meriva line-up finalised with addition of two new diesels

VAUXHALL has completed the new Meriva's diesel engine line up with the addition of two ultra-efficient units that together boost the range's green credentials and offer even more performance.

For those Meriva buyers after more performance, but who still require the efficiency and economy expected from a modern diesel, the new 1.7 CDTi (127bhp) has all the answers. With up to 300Nm of torque available from 2,000-2,500rpm, the Meriva's most powerful diesel takes just 9.9 seconds to accelerate from 0-62mph and will hit a top speed of 121mph.

But brisk performance hasn't come at the expense of economy. On the combined cycle, the 1.7 CDTi (127bhp) still achieves 54.3mpg and CO2 emissions of just 138g/km, made possible by a comprehensive package of efficiency upgrades.

Pricing for Meriva's diesel models starts at £16,875 for the Meriva S 1.3 CDTi (74bhp).

Meanwhile, the Murano dCi's 2.5-litre four-cylinder engine has been totally revised, with CO2 emissions cut by 5.0g/km through lower transmission friction and Clear Neutral Control. It is now develops 11 per cent more power and torque than before, while offering 35.3mpg economy in the combined cycle and 210g/km CO2 emissions.

Econocheck: Wise option.

Ford Econo Check helps cut fuel bills

FORD'S Econo Check service is now available from Ford dealerships, priced at £29.99

Ford is using cutting edge technology to provide tailored advice on the best way for customers to save fuel.

Using a small electronic data-logger to record driving behaviour, Ford technicians use sophisticated software to recommend ways of improving fuel economy.

The Econo Check service provides the answer to data highlighted by new research which has revealed that British drivers are concerned over fuel prices, but confused over how to ease the pressure on their finances.

Across the UK, 93 per cent of drivers interviewed for Ford by YouGov expressed concern over rising fuel prices, particularly with a VAT increase and fuel duty rise both planned for January 2011.

AA president, Edmund King, said: "We estimate that motorists will, by January, be paying 4.63p a litre more for petrol and 4.68p a litre more for diesel than they are now."

Yet there is confusion over how to make motoring money go further: 16 per cent have down-sized to smaller cars to save fuel, while 21 per cent have switched to diesel cars in an attempt to cut costs. At the same time, 15 per cent have postponed servicing their current car and five per cent have removed roof or bike racks. Overall, two per cent even confessed to excluding passengers to reduce weight in their car – a figure at its highest (5 per cent) for 18-24 year olds.

Just 50 per cent have considered modifying their own driving style to improve their car's fuel consumption, a figure which drops to 45 per cent among 25-34 year olds and drivers in London. Women are also less likely to consider this option: 45 per cent have considered easing off the accelerator, compared with 56 per cent of men.

Surprisingly, 15 per cent confessed they didn't know how to reduce their fuel consumption at all.

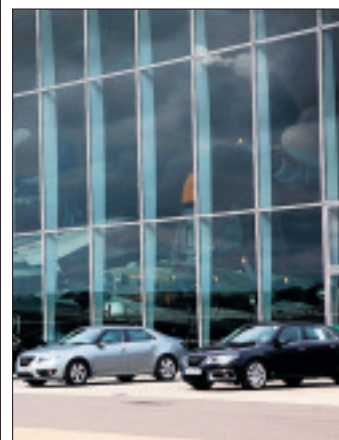

Ford's own tests have shown that economical driving and good maintenance can reduce fuel bills by up to 25 per cent, or £470 a year.

Ford's Econo Check, which became available last week, means that customers with most Ford vehicles registered after 1998 can sign up for a 35-point vehicle inspection and have their driving monitored for one week, using a small data logger fitted to their vehicle.

A Ford technician will check tyre pressure and condition, air filter cleanliness during a 15-minute inspection, after which the customer is invited to drive as normal for one week with the data logger fitted, then return it to have their data downloaded and compiled into a simple, personalised report.

The report will reveal data on average speed, anticipation, braking and gear changes, recommending where driving style adjustments could improve fuel economy and emissions and showing the total fuel savings possible.

LAUNCH: New Saab 9-5 at Duxford.

Duxford launch as all-new Saab 9-5 makes its debut

KEEN motorists in Cambridgeshire got their chance to experience one of the year's biggest car launches first-hand at the weekend, as local Saab dealers hosted an exclusive event to celebrate the launch of the all-new Saab 9-5 Saloon.

More than 250 visitors were invited to Duxford Imperial Museum for a free test drive of Saab's latest model, which arrived in the UK for the first time this month.

Staff from six dealers were on hand to show visitors all that the 9-5 has to offer, while those waiting for their chance to take the 9-5 on the road were given a free pass to the museum.

David Leighton,

regional marketing manager for Saab GB, comments: "As Saab's most advanced car to date, it seemed fitting to give them the chance to experience the powerful performance of the new 9-5 first-hand and Duxford was the ideal test-drive location."

The new 9-5, priced from £26,495, is now available from Cambridge Saab. For more information or to book a test drive go to www.cambridge-saab.co.uk, call in at Cambridge Saab, 59-61 High Street, Harston, CB22 7PZ or phone (01223) 873660.

Liberty gears up for autumn electric storm

MOTORISTS who love performance and prestige badges will be well catered for come the electric vehicle revolution – and one British firm will be leading the way.

Oxford-based clean technology developer Liberty Electric Cars is virtually ready to go to market with its zero-emissions, battery-powered, take on the mighty Range Rover.

Extensive testing in the north east – around Sunderland and Newcastle – has already been completed, and Liberty's converted Range Rover will be on sale in the autumn.

The firm, which has no connection to Land Rover, will put the world's first non-polluting, luxury 4x4 in British showrooms, and it will have the capability to cover almost 200 miles on a single charge, a distance that some electric vehicle (EV) makers are still striving to achieve.

Even better, the Liberty E-Range Rover will come complete with another world first – wireless charging. This simply involves parking the car over an induction plate, and it then charges automatically without the need for plugs or power leads.

Liberty says this new vehicle and its patented technology will revolutionise the big 4x4 sector, and the firm's chief executive, Barry Shrier, who was present at the North East trials, is proud of what Liberty has achieved so far.

"We are incredibly proud to have proven our critics wrong and demonstrated the performance ability of our patented, class-leading technology", says Shrier.

There's an electric motor sited close to each of the Range Rover's four wheels, giving the EV a top speed of 85mph, and a zero to 62mph time of around seven seconds. Better still, it cuts fuel costs to around £10 a week for anyone who spends around £50 over the same period on petrol.

Shrier won't give any indication of what the Liberty Range Rover will cost, but that should be revealed soon now that the vehicle has entered the production phase. To learn more, visit www.liberty-ecars.com.

Luxury car marques such as Mercedes have already accepted the challenges of the future, and even mass-market badges such as Renault are aiming to bring luxury EVs to market.

Mercedes-AMG is developing the SLS AMG E-Cell, a state-of-the-art supercar with a zero-emissions hi-tech drive. This mighty gullwing Merc can accelerate from zero to 62mph in just four seconds.

Renault's DeZir concept EV, though, is more of a lightweight, but a stunning sports car all the same. It has a range of 100 miles, and uses just the one electric motor – making it a much cheaper proposition if it makes it to market.

Charging points will need to be plentiful, and more and more cities outside of London are looking to invest in, and support, the global green motoring revolution.

The north east is the latest region to announce a network of recharging posts, with infrastructure provider Elektromotive about to supply the first 200 of 1,300 plug-in points in and around Newcastle.

These Elektrobay EV recharging posts will be installed within the next three years, and the mini power stations can be located by visiting the website www.elektromotive.com.

One US outfit has also recognised that EV chargers need to be both functional and attractive, so has come up with the GE WattStation.

Produced by San Francisco-based Fuseproject, led by industrial designer Yves Behar, the GE WattStation is user-friendly and also cuts the time needed for vehicle charging.

GE WattStations will be available later this year in both the US and Europe, and more information can be found at www.fuseproject.com.

MERCEDES: The SLS AMG E-Cell is a zero-emissions electric stunner.

The new Caddy and Caddy Maxi: September debut.

First showing for all-new Caddy

THE first images and details of the new generation Caddy and Caddy Maxi range have been released ahead of the vehicle's world debut at this September's IAA Hanover Commercial Vehicle show and arrival in UK Volkswagen Van Centres in November.

After six years and sales of nearly 800,000 units of the outgoing model, the new generation Caddy range promises to be more economical to run, with more safety features, enhanced quality and refinement, plus improved environmental credentials. These improvements aim to continue the Caddy's success as one of Volkswagen's best-selling models around the world – even as far away as Australia.

Visually, the new generation models are refreshed with the latest frontal styling found across all new Volkswagens, such as the latest Polo and Transporter. There are also new rear light clusters, plus roof rails available for the first time, and the option of cornering lights. It is a similar story inside, where new instruments, steering wheels and audio/navigation systems plus the option of Bluetooth connectivity enhance the Caddy range with more TDI units producing 108bhp and 136bhp. These are quieter, more refined and economical, with cleaner Euro5 standard levels of emissions. Other new features introduced to the new generation Caddy include Volkswagen's latest seven-speed DSG gearbox and 4MOTION four-wheel drive.

BlueMotion Technology models will now be available in the van and passenger-carrying models with the 1.6-litre engine, offering the ultimate in economy and low emissions. These use Start/Stop and battery regeneration systems to help deliver carbon dioxide emissions of as low as 129g/km and an average fuel consumption of up to 57mpg, giving a potential range of up to 735 miles on one tank of fuel.

The new generation Caddy range will have ESP (Electronic Stabilisation Programme) standard on every model. Other new safety features include daytime running function for the headlights and automatic activation of the hazard lights under emergency braking.

The seven-seat Caddy Maxi Life model will be renamed the Caddy Maxi MPV.

Full details of prices and specifications are expected to be released next month.

quality and style.

Under the bonnet there is a completely new range of four of Volkswagen's latest common rail, four-cylinder TDI engines which are up to 13 per cent more fuel-efficient. This includes two 1.6-litre TDI engines producing 73bhp and 100bhp, plus two 2.0-litre

Customer Publications Assistant

Temporary Position - Maternity Cover

Spicers Ltd is Europe's largest office products wholesaler. To support our dealers marketing activities in the UK and ROI we produce catalogues and direct mail publications in our busy and friendly offices, just south of Cambridge. We are an ISO9002 and Investors in People accredited company.

An opportunity now exists for a dynamic and flexible person to join the Customer Publications Department. Reporting to the Customer Publications Supervisor you will be responsible for providing an excellent and efficient service to all our customers. You will need to understand their publication needs and requirements and work to exceed these where possible; delivering all customer Publications on time every time, to the required specification and quality.

The role consists of processing orders, quoting costs, making out job bags, invoicing, communicating and liaising with internal departments, external suppliers and dealing with Customer queries in writing and via phone, fax and email.

The ideal candidate will be someone who excels under pressure, has an excellent attention to detail whilst demonstrating a positive, enthusiastic, committed and flexible attitude towards all. The ability to work in a team is essential. Some Printing knowledge would be beneficial but not essential. You will also have a sound knowledge of Microsoft applications and the ability to work to tight deadlines. You will need to be flexible with your working hours during our busier times.

Please apply in writing with a current CV, a covering handwritten letter and salary expectations to: Mandy Shaw, Marketing and Communications Secretary, Spicers Ltd, Sawston, Cambridge, CB22 3JG.

Rovers are put on the spot for fives exit

EVEN though they had not conceded a goal and remained unbeaten, Haverhill Rovers' A team made an agonising exit from the Little Paxton five-a-side tournament.

They cruised through their group into a semi-final against Godmanchester, another Cambridge and District Colts under-12A side, but after extra time failed to produce a goal, they were taken to the dreaded penalty shoot-out.

And the team – Ben Coleman, Rhys Shulver, Paul Jenkinson, George Jenkinson, Will Bailey and Chidera Nkem-Paul – lost out 5-4.

The B team – Sam Street, Josh Ruthvan, Jordi Smith, Leon Bailey, Joe Toffs and Jack Trowbridge – just missed out on the two qualifying places from their group.

> West Wratting's under-15s continued their build-up by winning an 11-goal thriller against Cambridge City on the huge Pembroke College ground.

They trailed 3-2 at the break after two goals from Tom Pinker – the second a thumping free kick – and he completed his hat-trick early in the second half with another rasping long-range shot.

Although City went back in front, Hayes, Pinker and Percy tilted the game in Wratting's favour before the home side ensured a nervy final five minutes with their fifth goal.

> Rovers' under-13 Reds are looking to increase their squad for the new season. The Cambridge and District Colts League side, who have produced a number of players featuring in academy sides at professional clubs, have a number of players who represent the league squad. Players must be in Year 8 from September and anyone interested can contact either Ali Shulver on (01440) 713036 or Kevin Ruffen on (01440) 762632.

> Thurlow also want players for their under-13 squad. Players whose 13th birthday falls between September 1 and August 31 next year should contact Tony on 07809 550420 or tonywill@thurlowouthfc.co.uk

Courts dates

MORE than 150 youngsters have booked in to the Haverhill club for two free coaching clinics. The first is next week and the second runs from August 23 to 27.

>> Karate

TWO members of the Chalkstone Karate Club have achieved black belt status joining a select band from the club to reach the prestigious level. Tom Cross (24) and 58-year-old Peter Tedham travelled to the Toyakwai Karate Association headquarters in Witham where they were tested on their knowledge of karate and their physical stamina by Sensei Joe Anderson, a 7th dan black belt. Cross started his training at the age of 12 and studied Ju Jitsu while at university. He then went travelling before returning to Chalkstone two years ago to continue his training. Tedham began his karate journey in 1998 and joined Chalkstone in 2005, working his way through the various coloured belts. Club spokesman Steve Hart said: "We are obviously very pleased and proud of Tom and Peter's achievement as they are only the fourth and fifth members to gain their black belts in the club's 25-year history.

"We hope their success will be an inspiration for other members." Following their success, other members of the club passed grading exams for their coloured belts. Each member had to demonstrate various kicks, punches and blocks including attacking and defending against another club member. There were also two formal exercises, known as Kata, for each grade.

Those successful were: Tyler Oteng 9th Kyu (red belt), Jason Little 5th kyu (purple belt), Hannah Dance 4th kyu (blue belt), Saffron Purr 4th kyu, Liam Purr 4th kyu, Cameron Newson 2nd kyu (brown with one white stripe), and Gary Dadds 1st kyu (brown with two white stripes, the last belt before black).

Further awards went to Dance for most improved karate and Little for the best grading performance.

>> Cricket: Adams Harrison Midweek League

It's farewell, Horseheath

TITLE favourites Haverhill ended Horseheath's long stay in the top flight of the Adams Harrison Midweek League.

With Saffron Walden falling to a surprise defeat at Weston Colville, Haverhill have their first title since 1972 in their grasp.

However, their five-wicket defeat of Horseheath condemned the losers to relegation for the first time in the 40-year history of the league.

The clash turned on Robbie Ketteridge's 3 for 13 which sent his former club tumbling to 68. Luke Youngs hammered an unbeaten 36 as Haverhill got home at 69 for 5.

And the leaders' mood improved further when news came through that Walden had been blasted out for 88 in pursuit of Colville's 151 for 7.

At the other end of the table, Brockley remain in relegation trouble after losing to Babraham, who reached 163 for 8 on the back of Andy Palmer's 60 and 28 from Jon Woodgate, who then followed up with 3 for 17 as Brockley, hit by Lawrence Poulter's 3 for 10, subsided to 92.

Abington are back in the top flight, their promotion rubber-stamped by victory against Long Melford. Matt Thomas (44), Dave Pimblett (37 not out) and Simon Bishop (39) helped Abington to 145 for 2 after Andy Argent (4 for 50) proved a thorn in Long Melford's side as they reached 144 for 9.

Hundon gained first blood against Manor in a nail-biting finish to their Division Two game, which was a warm-up for the League Cup final. Hundon reached 100 but won by a run after restricting Manor to 99.

Great Yeldham are also on the way back up after trouncing Gestingthorpe in Division 3A. Dave Hodge took 4 for 20 as the champions scuppered their rivals for 72 as they chased 125 for 4, Bill Moulton-Day finishing with 4 for 16.

It was a memorable night for Kerry Evens, who took four wickets in an over – including a hat-trick – as West Wratting Lions beat Highpoint.

Russell Davies scored 48 as Lions scored 134 for 7 (Richard Ellis 3 for 26) but Evens finished with 4 for 20 as Highpoint, held together by Jason Clayden's 49, managed only 99.

Vic Sharma and Dom Smith both made 26 as Abington II hit 148 for 7 against Babraham II in Division 3B. Dave Furlow (3 for 10) and Harry Franklin (4 for 18) took over to tie Babraham to 57 for 8.

And Linton signed off with victory over neighbours Balsham, Gavin Bowie making 26 in their 144 for 8 which was just too good for the visitors' 137 for 6.

Rovers come home to Croft

HAVERHILL Rovers finally get a chance to tread the turf at the New Croft on Tuesday. They face Needham Market in their final friendly before the start of the Ridgeons League campaign a week on Saturday, another home game against Walsham le Willows. Rovers, who lost 3-0 at Royston on Saturday – had been forced to abandon their home friendlies because of the new pitch's condition. But they are due at Cambridge University Press tonight (Thursday, 6.15pm) and Cornard on Saturday.

Ton-up Sam seals it

SAM Powell kept Haverhill on course for promotion from Division Two of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship. The opener carried his bat for a brilliant 126 as the leaders maintained their grip on top spot with a three-wicket win at home to struggling Felixstowe. Although they allowed the visitors to reach a healthy 259 for 5, Powell was the backbone of Haverhill's reply, guiding them to 262 for 7 and a 15-point haul. However, nearest rivals Ipswich also won, claiming a 20-point haul in a five-wicket win at Baintree. Haverhill go to mid-table Hadleigh on Saturday, while Ipswich have a crucial home clash against third-placed Elmstead Grasshoppers. > The Saturday second team recovered from a perilous 38 for 4 and then 90 for 7 on a tricky wicket at Kesgrave to enhance their own Division Six ambitions with an astounding 90-run victory. Jason Ketteridge (68) and Tom Saville (28) righted the innings with a 74-run partnership, and when Ketteridge's aggressive knock ended, Martyn Wilkins played the junior partner as he and Saville added 47 runs taking the score to 214. Kesgrave's cautious approach was eventually undone by Joey Kettle (7-2-21-3) and Dan Webb (7-1-20-4) – their bowling enhanced by some sharp fielding from Saville and wicketkeeper Ketteridge, who took seven catches between them – and they were all out for 124 in 41 overs. > Having gone nine games without a win, Haverhill's senior Sunday league side recorded their third win on the trot in the Hunt County Bats Suffolk League, Division One. They quickly despatched Walsham le Willows on a notoriously bouncy, fast wicket, Russ Davis blowing away the top-three batsmen with rapid yorkers while Dan Poole tied down one end, conceding just eight off his six overs. Skipper Joe Woodley then claimed 3 for 13 and Sam Pass whipped out three of the lower order with his beautifully-flighted leg spin. Walsham subsided to 101, even with the benefit of seven dropped catches. Sam Hartshorn gave the reply a firm foundation – 28 of his 30 coming in boundaries – and Luke Youngs (26 not out) and Poole (39 not out) got Haverhill home within 20 overs. Fixtures. Saturday – Division One: Hadleigh v Haverhill. Division Six: Haverhill II v Felixstowe (both 1pm starts). Sunday – Division One: Haverhill v Acton. Division Four: Horringer v Haverhill II (both 1.30pm starts).
